Chairman Hyde, of the Board of Safety, called Euperintendent Quigley, of the police department, before the board yesterday to in winercoms and beer gardens in the city, Mr. McMillen, a member of the board, made a tour of investigation to several places the first of the week and reported that he witnessed things that shocked him. He remarked that it was strange the police could not see such things, or, if they do, cannot report them. Superintendent Quigley said it was difficult to stop the evils complained of at winercoms and roadhouses, as there is no law against visiting such places. He said the police officers have been instructed to arrest persons seen at such places who were regular visitors and endeavor to make cases against them.

The Election of Officers Results as Predicted-The Convention

The election of officers, which was to have been the first order of business at the convention of the United Mine Workers in Tomlinson Hall yesterday morning, was postponed until late in the afternoon on account of matters that unexpectedly came before the convention. President John Mitchell, Vice President T. L. Lewis and Secretary-Treasurer W. B. Wilson were re-elected, having no opposition. On motion, Secretary Wilson cast the ballot of Vice President Lewis, and President Mitchell cast the ballot for Secretary Wilson. The action was unanimous. Each of the officers thanked the delegates in short speeches. The result of the vote will not be anounced until this morning.

IN EXECUTIVE SESSION. The convention yesterday morning unexpectedly went into executive session to hear the report of President Mitchell. The cause of the exclusion of the public from the hall was the alleged irregularities in the accounts of W. C. Pearce, ex-secretarytreasurer of the Mine Workers, who resigned last May. The shortage was small, and after being accounted for, the matter was dropped by the executive board. The convention yesterday concurred in the action of the board. W. B. Wilson was appointed secretary-treasurer of the union when Pearce resigned. The rule of the executive session was still in order at the opening of the afternoon session, but upon motion of Delegate Fairly the doors were again thrown open for public meeting. The convention then listened to the report of Secretary-treasurer After dealing with the defense fund, the secretary stated that the Mine Workers' Journal is not yet on a paying basis, the receipts for the year being $7,-212.96, while the expenditures were $11,206.13. The circulation of the Journal is 15,639. A consolidation of the auditing and credentials committee was recommended to facili-tate matters at the opening of the conven-

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

Mr. Mitchell's Recommendations to the Mine Workers.

In his annual report to the miners' convention yesterday President Mitchell dealt at length with the strikes of the last year. giving special attention to the anthracite strike. When this strike was declared, he said, the United Mine Workers had but 8,000 miners in the anthracite region, while 142,500 were employed. A large force of organizers was sent into the district while the strike order was pending, and on Sept. 17, the day the men were ordered out, 112,000 miners responded. Each succeeding day brought recruits until nearly every man was out. The strike was officially declared off Oct. 25 and the miners returned to work. having gained a 10 per cent. increase and the abolition of the obnoxious sliding wage

The total membership of the organization Jan. 1, 1901, was 189,329, an increase of 98,312, or 108 per cent. over the preceding year. which represents the organization of 608 local unions, as against 477 for the year 1899. In the year 1899 $42,682.93 was spent for organization, or $1.15 for each member, while last year the organization cost $62,-286.44, or 63 cents for each person, making a total decrease of 52 cents for each person organized last year from the preceding year. Only the most efficient field workers were employed, and President Mitchell recommended that the same policy be continued until every man and boy who works about the mines is organized. He also said he looked forward to the day when trades unions will be recognized as a synonym for respectability and good citizenship. During the year five meetings of the executive board were held to discuss matters relating to the affairs of the miners, and on all matters the board reached unanimous agreements. THE DEFENSE FUND. Referring to the defense fund which was established at the last convention, which was to go into effect June 1, he said that only 20 per cent, of the membership voted upon it, of which 20,113 were cast for the defense fund and 11,510 against it. As the submitted to the members of the organization, who were urged to instruct their delegates to this convention to express themselves for or against the defense fund. Instead of such a fund President Mitchell said he thought it more practical to give the executive board power to levy assessments when necessary, the assessments not to be over 25 cents a month for each mem-

Machine mining, he said, has increased at such a rate that 23 per cent. of the coal mined last year was mined by machinery. This competitor of the pick miner is rapidly pushing him to the rear, he said, and gives the operators who use machines an advantage in the markets, because there is so great a difference in the price paid for hine and pick mining that the operator who employs hand labor cannot compete. He said an adjustment must be made that

"Another objectionable feature of our present agreement which should be remedied is the system under which coal is mined and paid for in the five districts covered by the interstate scale. From time immemorial mine workers have sought through legislation, conventions and strikes to have the coal they produce weighed be fore it is screened. So constant and vigorous has been the agitation in favor of this honest method of measuring the earnings of miners that nearly every State Legis- | Predicament of the Brother of M. lature, recognizing the justice of the miners' claims, has enacted laws requiring operators to pay on a run-of-mine basis; but the courts have invariably held that such legislation was unconstitutional. This fact, however, does not in any degree detract from the recognized justice of our position, and, while we no longer hope for AN redress through legislation, the agitation for an honest and equitable system of weighing and paying for the product of car labor should be continued until our desires have been consummated. In this connec- CONSULTED AND AN OPINION FROM tion I wish to remind you that more than one-half of the bituminous coal produced in the United States is paid for before it is screened; in fact, there is no difference of opinion between the operators and miners on this question excepting in Indiana. Ohio and western Pennsylvania, and possibly some local points in Illinois, while the experience of the past has demonstrated that more strikes have resulted through disrutes arising over the question of weights where coal is screened than for any other cause. I would therefore urge that every possible effort be made to have the next cale drawn upon a run-of-mine basis." The demand for the union label and the organization of a women's auxiliary union to the mine workers were spoken of as important questions for the convention to A NATIONAL HOME.

While the receipts of the Journal last year were in excess of those of the preceding year, Mr. Mitchell said it was not yet self-sustaining, but he said the paper is not to be measured by financial returns, as there is no greater factor in the trades union movement than the official organ,

In conclusion President Mitchell said that while the organization has reason to feel proud of its strength, growth and achievements, it is yet far from being perfect, and that many necessary improvements demand the consideration and co-operation of every member of the union. He said the thoughtful men must dominate and shape the course of the organization if the confidence and respect of the American people are to be retained, and without that support the movement could not live.

"MOTHER" JONES HERE.

She Will Be in Indianapolis Till the Convention Closes.

No delegate attending the Mine Workers convention is more interested in the proceedings of the sessions than "Mother" Jones, who is now at the Occidental and will remain until the convention closes. To the miners she is a familiar figure, and her words of cheer have been heard by many of the delegates when they were in need of encouragement in time of strikes. "Mother" Jones said last night she hoped the recom-mendation of President Mitchell in his annual report providing for the organization of a women's auxiliary will meet the ap proval of the convention, as she regards such a movement as a most beneficial venture for the miners. She says such an organization would be more effective than the Women's Label League, because it would mean a direct betterment of the conditions
